Basil, October 26.

THE Roman Catholick Cantons have suspended their Preparations of War, and begin to talk with some Temper of the Injuries they pretend to have receiv'd from the Laudable Canton of Zurich: The Canton of Lucerne particularly, has written a 2<sup>d</sup> Letter to the Regents of Zurich, in very modest and civil Terms, touching the disrespectful Language some Peasants of the Canton of Zurich let fall concerning the Regents of Lucerne; which they made such ado about in their former Letter. Likewise the Canton of Schwitz have written to the Regents of Zurich who complain'd a certain Priest of Sattel had talk'd scandalously of them, that they had reprov'd him for it. So that 'tis hop'd now the Affair of Neukirch and other differences which have been for some time between the Canton of Zurich and some of the Catholick Cantons, will soon be adjusted amicably. The Magistrates of Lindau, seeing their Town deliver'd from the Dangers they apprehended during the late Troubles of Swabia, have sent Deputies to Zurich, to thank that Canton for the Succours of Men and Arms with which they had furnish'd them; and at the same time to desire them to withdraw half those Men: These Deputies are to go on to the Canton of Berne, which assisted them with Men likewise, with the like Compliment and Request.

From the Amsterdam Courant, dated Nov. 8.

Basil, Oct. 27. The Marquis de Puisieux, Ambassador of France, is daily expected back from the French Court. The Officers of the Swiss Regiment of Fleckenstein, who made so poor a Defence in the Fort of la Thuile when it was attack'd and taken by the French, and retir'd into Switzerland with part of their Men; pretending they could not keep those Men together without Pay, have disbanded them, just when those who are employ'd to lift Men for the French were ready to offer them Money and receive them into his most Christian Majesty's Service; which confirms many People in an Opinion, that there was before and is still a private Understanding between them and the Court of France. The Duke of Savoy's Envoy has express'd some Resentment of this last Proceeding of those Officers; but they complain on their Part, that not one Article of the Agreement made with them by the said Minister, was perform'd; but that after they had rais'd the Men we have mention'd, they could neither get Money, Cloaths, or Arms for them. Some other Swiss Officers, who have been long in the Duke of Savoy's Service, and came hither lately to raise Recruits, and had rais'd some; let the French Agents have them also, on the same Pretence that they had not Money to give them and so could not detain them. The Regency of Milan have (at the Instigation, 'tis presum'd, of the French, or of the Roman Catholick Cantons,) publish'd an Ordinance, forbidding the Subjects of that State to traffick with those of the Canton of Zurich.

From the Brussels Gazette, dated Nov. 4.

Montpellier, Octob. 18. The Marshal de Villars having detach'd several small Parties among the Hills to look for Ravel; the Party commanded by one Joseph found him out the 16th in the Evening; and having follow'd him all Night, he came up with him yesterday Morning upon the Hill call'd Bouquet. He attack'd him and his Party, kill'd 30 of his Men; took 20 Musquets, 14 Pittols, 6 Swords, a great many Bayonets, and 30 Horses, among them Ravel's, who himself escap'd with the rest of his Men, and the Royalists are in Pursuit of them; all the Avenues being secur'd by the King's Forces, 'tis hop'd those Camisars will soon be taken, and if not they must be starv'd. All the rest of the Camisars have submitted, except one Sulere who has a Party of 20 Men, and another call'd Fidele: They both sent word to the Marshal de Villars that they would come in and ask Pardon; but being long a coming, Orders are given for pursuing them. Joannin, la Rose, la Forest, and other Leaders of the Camisars who have submitted, brought above 50 Firelocks yesterday to the Marshal de Villars; and to satisfy him of the Sincerity of their Intentions, they told him what Method they us'd to induce those of their Party who had Firelocks by them, to bring them in.

From the Camp at Borchloen, Octob. 31. We are inform'd, that when the Enemies Troops made a general Motion t'other day, the French that were garrison'd in the Town of Namur march'd out of it; and desir'd the Spaniards who were garrison'd in the Castle, (and who would not entrust the Guard of it to the French,) to secure the Gates and other Posts of the Town in their Absence. The Spaniards, mistrusting nothing, march'd out of the Castle into the Town, as soon as the French had left it; but the French turning off to the Wood of Morlaigne, came back undiscover'd, by surprize got into the Castle, and keep Possession of it.
